Pioneer Line of Steamers

FOR

Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, via Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal.

THE COMMODIOUS STEAMERS PIONEER and Commodore Adams, will leave Newberne for Norfolk on TUESDAY of each week at 8 o'clock A M, connecting with the different lines of steamers for the above-named points. On and after the first day of December next they will leave on Tuesday and Friday of each week, making semi-weekly trips. Shippers of Goods will receive every facility and accommodation for the transportation of the same, as arrangements have been made with the different companies to forward goods to this line at low rates and without delay. Each of these steamers are capable of carrying through the canal without difficulty, as they were built expressly for the trade. They are fitted up with STATE ROOMS and BERTHS capable of accommodating thirty-five passengers. Every attention will be paid to the comfort of passengers, who will not be subject to the inconvenience of transfer to other vessels, but will be taken through direct without charge.

The tables of the steamers are liberally supplied with the best the market affords. Families traveling will find it to their interest to take this line, as they will thereby escape the danger and discomfort of a sea route, and the fatigue of railroad travel.

On the 15th of December next, if the business of the line warrants it, the steamer Williams will be put on the route, and tri-weekly trips will be made.

For freight or passage apply to Whitford, Dill & Co., Newbern, N C.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Editor.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1865.

OUR TERMS.

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For Daily, per year,	$10 00
" six months,	5 00
" one month	1 00
" two months	2 00
Semi-Weekly per year,	5 00
Weekly per year,	3 00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The scarcity of money however, obliges us to say to our friends, that responsible and prompt persons who desire the Sentinel need not delay sending us their names at once, who can send us the Cash in a short time. The money may be sent us by the Rail Road Conductors or the Express Company.

THE PEOPLE must be trusted with their Government, and if trusted, my opinion is that they will act in good faith, and restore their former constitutional relations with all the States composing the Union.—Andrew Johnson's Letter to Gov. Sharkey, of Missis ppi.

Representative Responsibility.

How far a representative is bound by his relation to his constituents to reflect their wishes in his speeches and votes, is a question, which has been much mooted. It is palpable, that in all matters where the will of the constituency is known to the representative and became a matter of pledge in the canvass, he is bound in honor to carry it out, unless circumstances intervene afterwards to justify a departure. In matters of conscience, of course the representative is not bound, nor can he be required to sacrifice his own convictions and judgment to the whims or caprice of his constituents. But standing as he does in their stead and acting for them, he is bound in a general sense, to do what he knows they would do, were they present and acting.

We admit that the late election was by no means a test of principles or issues clearly defined or set forth. Our people on both sides, designed to express a decided purpose to sustain the policy of the President in restoring the State to her proper position in the Union at the earliest period—to elect none but truly loyal men. Beyond this it was a contest between a liberal or an illiberal policy in State affairs, and a choice between men. The policy of the "strait sect" faction was evidently ignored and rejected by the people, and in the person of Mr Worth, the liberal and conciliatory policy towards all portions of our people prevailed. It was reasonable therefore to expect that in the Legislature, this policy would be carried out.

The elections for several days have indicated, that this principle has been ignored, and that men have either revived their old party predilections in supporting particular men, or that operated upon by other influences, they feel called upon to adopt a course which seems most likely to conciliate the government and thereby secure an early admission into the Union.

Whatever can be done to secure the favor of the government, should be done we grant, within any reasonable limits Indeed no sacrifice of mere feeling ought to come in conflict with it The government has imposed upon us terms of submission and restoration, and defined what class of persons should be engaged in effecting it To these demands there must be compliance.—But does this require a yielding of our right of choice in matters of election? Are we required to vote only for such and such persons as may be designated by the powers that be? Why have an election at all? Why consume time and money on elections? The selection of persons to fill particular positions, if such a thing is in the programme of reconstruction, might with more propriety be claimed by the authorities as a condition of favor, without an election than with one. Why call it an election at all, if men are required simply to go through the motions? An election implies a free choice, an unbiased will in the selection. Where the representative exercises this will for his constituents freely, the election is a proper one, but not otherwise.

United States Senators.

It appears to be the purpose of the General Assembly to elect United States Senators today. A number of names are mentioned in connection with that high position. We hear the names of Gov Graham, Gov. Holden, Gov. Vance, Mr. Pool, Col. Brown, Col. Ferebee, Hon. W. N. H. Smith and Mr. Settle, mentioned in connection with that office. Of Gov. Graham's election we have heard no doubt expressed. But it is known that very powerful efforts have been made to defeat him. These efforts have been successful in other cases in several instances they will still be unremitted, and so sudden and strange are the changes which come over men's minds, and so uncertain have been the calculations made in reference to the election of particular persons, it is difficult to determine what will be the result. Yet, as general and decided has been the public expression in the State and in the Legislature in favor of Gov. Graham, we cannot doubt his election. No man certainly in the State, exerts a more general and conservative influence over our people—none could take a higher position in the National councils—none are more loyal to the government, and none would exert themselves more efficiently, in promoting the welfare of the State and the whole country. Those who love the State and who are devoted to the policy of early restoration, should keep their eyes open and guard vigilantly against being misled or betrayed into a mere scramble for men, without a wise regard to the future well-being of the State.

Gov. Holden.

We are glad to learn that Gov. Holden is convalescent and will probably be able to be at the Executive Office to-day.

A National Bank has been established at Salisbury, which will go into operation in a few days. M. L. Holmes, Esq., has been elected President, and D. A. Davis, Esq. Cashier.

Gen. Grant's Opinion.

We regret that this distinguished General, was prevented by pressing business from remaining longer in Raleigh. The brief intercourse of our citizens with him, impressed them favorably—We learn that the General expressed himself decidedly, that the late elections had been wrongly construed at the North, and that his impressions were entirely favorable to the loyalty of our people.

The President's Message

We expect to receive a telegraphic summary of the President's Message in a short time after its delivery. It will be issued as soon thereafter as possible.

IMMENSE MORTALITY AMONG NEGROES.—Official returns received at the Freedmen's Bureau show that of the 10,000 negroes sent down Cape Fear river in March, 1865, to Wilmington by General Sherman, 2,000 died from 17th March to 31st of May, for the want of medical attention, which it was impossible to afford them at the time. Since the establishment of the medical department of the Freedmen's Bureau in North Carolina, the mortality among the freedmen has greatly decreased.

For the Sentinel.

The Late Election.

No greater mistake could be made than to suppose that the result of the late elections in in North Carolina was a test of loyalty. If words and oaths and actions can prove such test, every candidate before the people was in truth and in fact loyal to both governments—State and Federal. All wish reconstruction. All desire a speedy re-habilitation, or there is no truth, nor honor, nor manhood left—not enough to swear by. Is the whole State perjured? What faith can we have in man—what man can ever be trusted hereafter, if an ardent desire, so universally expressed by our citizens of every shade of opinions, covers up and conceals a deep seated malignity towards the government, to an early restoration to which in all its rights, the prayers of a people are all directed? If universal submission to the conditions of our restoration as required by that portion of the government to which we alone can look, means any thing, it means that the South can be trusted—and ought to be trusted. If new and additional submission is to be made—such as the Northern radicals are now said to demand, there is believed to be no distinction among us. In this State at least, those who have claimed to be par excellence, the friends of the Federal government, are not a whit behind their fellow-citizens who have arrogated to themselves no such particular exclusive devotion. All agree, it is believed, that it is better to remain as we are, under the care and protection of the President, placing himself as he has so nobly done, a breakwater between us and the roaring surges of an unceasing and cruel fanaticism, than to come into the possession of constitutional rights to be shared equally and fraternally with the pie bald conglomeration of both races, so captivating to the fancies of these mock philanthropists, whose only aim seems to be our oppression and deep degredation. Better stay out and stay forever, than have such a union. Better, a thousand times, military government; better 'taxation without representation' in all its horrors, than this disgusting and degrading political miscegenation. Better to bear the ills we have, than to eat that dirt!

Our Gubernatorial election decides neither loyalty, nor disloyalty in those who supported either candidate. The candidates were both loyal, equally so—so were their repective supporters.—The candidates had not been always alike in this regard. The "record" of one of them was none of the cleanest, but at the date of the election, and for some time before, his status was unexceptionable, and several thousands of people as loyal as those who voted for Mr. Worth, but not a whit more so, gave him their votes The contest was upon their own individual merits. Their previous political consistency was much canvassed. The political purity of the candidates was weighed, and free men voted as they pleased to vote under all the circumstances. All parties were on the same platform. The difference in principle was small and inconsiderable, even if there existed any. The friends of one of the candidates said that the President was in his favor. The others did not believe it, and voted under that disbelief.

Therefore even if they were laboring under a mistake about that, no imputation can rest on their loyalty. They thought Gov. Worth was as good an Unionist as Gov. Holden. Many thought him a much better one. They thought he would be equally acceptable to the Federal government. It would not be respectful nor proper now, to institute a comparison between them—That thing was done a few weeks ago, and the State may bless itself that a free canvass was allowed. The honest choice of the people was made. They preferred Gov Worth by a majority of 7000 or 8000, for reasons which satisfied them. The two threw themselves on the honest and indulgent people. It would be disgraceful now for either to quarrel with the result, and refuse to "accept the situation." It would seem to be something more than ungraceful in either to defy their decission, and seek in any forum to express the will of the people of North Carolina, in other form than they have expressed it themselves. The British Minister, when voted down, yields to the voice of the people and retires with grace and diguity. It is thought by him to be due to popular supremacy. In Republican America, this custom may perhaps be more honored in the breach than in the observance. But there is an honest future for all contemners of the popular will. An outraged and insulted people will howl at their heels. Retributive justice, in a political sense, is sure to overtake them and topple them over, and when they fall, they fall like Lucifer. R.

Will the President Change his Policy?

As the time approaches for the assembling of Congress, public interest grows in regard to the position that the message will assume on the subject of Southern restoration. The Radicals are at much pains to produce the impression that the President will back down from his wise and healing policy. They declare that the South has disappointed his expectations, and that he is now convinced that more rigorous measures are necessary. For these allegations no authority is vouched. The best authority would be the President's own declarations, but it is not pretended that any such declarations have emanated from him. On the contrary, he has not given any evidence either by his language or his acts, of dissatisfaction with the South. These outgivings of the ultras, so industriously circulated, are designed to operate upon the President and his cabinet. The object is to get up such an imposing pressure as to coerce and frighten them into a change of policy. So adroitly and so persistently has this effort been conducted, that however little it may have effected the President, it has had the effect of exciting much uneasiness in the public mind. Many tremble under the apprehension that the President will give way, and will lay before Congress a programme for a rigorous Southern policy. We hope and believe that this apprehension is groundless. President Johnson is distinguished for his strength of will and independence of character. He owes much of his extraordinary success in life to these qualities.—His course during the trying experience of the last seven months has not shown any abatement of these manly attributes. To suppose that he will suddenly change his whole course and reverse a policy to which he has all along rigidly adhered, will be to suppose him capable of an inconsistency and self-contradiction that are incredible. Viewing him in all the lights of his past eventful life, we can see no reason whatever for doubting that he will defend, adhere to and recommend in his message, the measures that he originated and has so wisely and benignantly carried out.—Rich. Whig.

The President's Telegram.

The Salisbury Gazette in noticing the telegram of the President to Gov. Holden, makes the following judicious remarks:

The President states that the result of the recent elections in North Carolina have greatly damaged the prospects of the State in the restoration of its governmental relations. We regret that he has come to that conclusion. We were imagining that everything was going on right—Conscious of no disloyalty in ourselves, we have not expected it in others, and we were in hopes that the expression of the people's loyalty would have been looked upon and accepted. Everything now, however, rests with the Legislature, and we are glad, when we consider the importance of the interests involved, that we are represented by three such men as Shober, Blackmer and Holmes.

Political Affairs.

The Southern Delegates and the Radicals—Visitors of the President—Senator Doolittle supporting the President. &c.

The indications are strong that Mr. Colfax spoke without the book for his party.

Colonel Forney's approximate silence in reference to the admission of Southern members, with that of the New York Tribune, taken in conjunction with the article in the New York Times, of to-day, would seem to give affairs a favorable aspect.

Secretaries Seward and Stanton, with Senator Doolittle, had a long interview with the President to-day. After the two first named left, Mr. Doolittle remained for a considerable time. He has been openly and strongly for the President's policy. Mr. Thaddeus Stevens saw the President to-day, also Senator Turnbull.

The Radicals, from deference to the President, seem willing to admit that Tennessee is in the Union.

From East Tennessee.

Nineteen Hundred Indictments for Treason.

KNOXVILLE, November 27.—The United States District Court, Judge Connelly N. Trigg presiding, began its session to-day. The streets and hotels are crowded with citizens The grand jury have found indictments numbering over nineteen hundred, for treason and giving aid and comfort to the enemy. Parties will have contesting cases, who two years ago to-day, were in the destructive assault on Fort Sanders. The Court will continue for some months.

The Writ of Habeas Corpus to be Restored--Trial of Jeff. Davis.

There is good reason to believe that the President will, in a few days, issue a proclamation restoring the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus. As a consequence of this, there will be no military commission or courts to try offenses in districts where the cases can be disposed of by civil tribunals.

It may be asserted with confidence that there is no truth whatever in the statement that Jefferson Davis is to be tried by a military court.

Meeting of Distinguished Masons.

The Charleston Courier of the 20th, has the following account of the meeting of the Supreme Council of Masonry, lately convened in that city:

The Supreme Council of Sovereign Grand Inspectors General of the Thirty third and last degree of Masonry, Ancient and Accepted Rite, assembled in the city of Charleston during the last week. Ill. Bro. Gen. Albert Pike, of Arkansas, presided as Sovereign Grand Commander; Ill. Bro. A. T. C. Pierson, of Minnesota, as Lieutenant Grand Commander, and Ill. Bro. Hon. A. G. Mackey, of South Carolina, as Secretary General, with a considerable number of distinguished Masons from every part of the United States. Among them were Illustrious Brothers Col. Wm. S. Rockwell, of Georgia, H. Shaw, of California, Henry Buist, H. W. Schroder, and B. Rush Campbell, of South Carolina, Col. Tal. P. Shaffer, of Kentucky, Charles T. McClenaghan, of New York, and Lucius R. Paige, of Massachusetts.

This high body of distinguished Masons did much work, their meetings having been suspended during the war. Among other things of interest to the craft we may notice that they appointed Ill. Bro. Col. Tal. P. Shaffer, Special Deputy for Europe, and elected the following persons Honorary members of their Council:

His Majesty Charles XV., King of Sweden and Norway.

His Majesty Christian IX., King of Denmark.

His Royal Highness Constantine Nicolavich, Grand Duke of Russia.

Illustrious brother Henry Buist was elected Treasurer General in place of Achille Le Prince, deceased.

The Supreme Council adjourned late Saturday night, after being in session several days, to continue their session on the third Monday, of March next, 1866, at the city of Washington, D. C.

The profane world, as Masons call them, are perhaps not aware that this is the Mother Council of all the Supreme Councils of the world — It comprises among its members some of the most distinguished men of this country and Europe.

Gen. Pike occupies the position of the Supreme Grand Commander of the Council, and upon its convocation delivered a most erudite and eloquent address, reviewing the condition of the Masonic Order throughout the United States and in Europe.

We make the following extract from the opening of the address:

Illustrious Brethren and Sovereign Grand Commanders:

At the close of the great harvest of that pitiless reaper, Death, and, while having paused through mere weariness he rests, we assemble, from States widely distant from each other and not long since mad with all the direful passions of civil war, to kneel together once more around the altar of Scottish Masonry, to lament the dead and to labor for the benefit of society, our country and humanity.

During four terrible years our Temples have been for the most part deserted, the ashes of the fires upon our altars have been cold, and the brethren have met each other as enemies or ceased to communicate with each other. Isolated in most of our States from the outer world, we have had no correspondence with foreign bodies. No attempt has been made to enlarge the borders of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite. Our Subordinate bodies ceased to meet. The Veil of the Temple has indeed been rent in twain, our working tools were broken, and our columns lay overthrown and prostrate

In war when hell legislates for humanity and all the horrible influences that can debase and demoralize men are busily at work, Masonry can do little even to soften the horrors and temper the hatreds of a strife that she was powerless to avert. In some quarters, indeed, her laws were sought to be trampled under foot and Masonic privileges to be denied to those whom their brethren thought it Masonic piety to brand as rebels. They forgot that when States were arrayed against States in an open war of gigantic proportions, Masonic charity required them to believe that their brethren who fought for political independence, however much they might be in error, were sincerely and honestly obeying their convictions of duty without any of the moral guilt of treason; and they forgot that, in holding them to have forfeited their rights as Masons, they, themselves, were led by their passions to violate their Masonic obligations. But these were not permitted to make Masonry, and least of all, Scottish Masonry, a party to the civil war waged between States. They compromitted themselves alone, and the fire and smoke of the battle scorched not her garments. They earned the condemnation and contempt of the world of Masonry; but Masonry itself so acted as to be entitled to honor and admiration.

With peace the opportunity for useful labor returns to the ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. We shall soon be prepared to extend it throughout our jurisdiction; and I trust that before three more years elapse it will number its inmates by thousands, and its lodges and higher bodies be found in every State.

THE FORTHCOMING MESSAGE.—The New York Times reviews the circumstances under which the President's message is being prepared; a rough draft of which is reported to have been read in cabinet meeting on Friday last. It is admitted that since the close of the war there is, not a shade, even the slightest, of Southern feeling which the President has not probed, so that he could hardly have failed to form an absolutely correct idea of the prevailing spirit and purpose. The following "apprehension" of the Times, it is hoped, will prove correct:

"We have no apprehension that the matured views presented by the President in his message will not commend themselves to the sound judgment of both branches of Congress, and have all the moral effect to which his superior advantages of position will entitle them. It is certain that the loyal millions of the North will greatly defer to them, and will not approve any opposition that is not sustained by the most cogent reasons."

GENERAL GRANT.—The Intelligencer says that the departure of Lieut. Gen. Grant for Richmond has occasioned considerable conjecture. The prevailing impression is that he has been deputed by the President for a line of duty connected with high political considerations. It is publicly announced that his tour will probably embrace Charleston and other Southern cities, while the suggestion has been made that it may extend to New Orleans, and even further beyond the Missi-sippi.

PARDON OF A WEST-POINTER.—On Saturday, the President pardoned Major Echols, who was engineer on the rebel defences of Charleston, S. C.—This is the first pardon issued to graduates of the West Point Academy who entered the Confederate service, and was granted in consideration of the fact that Echols is the author of an invention promising to be of great value to the Government, which he could not have patented until he was restored to the rights of citizenship.

General Clingman, former U. S. Senator from North Carolina, is in Washington City. It is said that Mr. Clingman asserts that, under the theory that the State of North Carolina never was nor could be out of the Union, and that the ordinance of 20th May, 1861, never had any effect, he is still United States Senator. We give the report as we have heard it.—Wil. Journal.

Important to the Literati.

James Barron Hope, Esq., editor of the Norfolk Virginian, has issued a card to the "Literati of the South," in which he says that for many years, he has meditated the preparation of a work designed to illustrate the growth and progress of Southern Literature; and now finding himself in a position in which he can carry out his long-cherished purposes, he ventures to beg his literary brethren (or their representatives,) to forward to him copies of their various performances, together with such biographical memoranda as they may see proper to confide to him.

He proposes to make use of the material thus collected, in critical papers for the Journal with which he is associated, with the ultimate design of elaborating them for publication in a more enduring form.

The object in view is one which, in his judgment, should commend itself with peculiar force to the people of the Southern States; and he ventures to hope that the press will give publicity to this announcement, in order that the accumulation of material may be sufficiently ample for his purpose.

Those who may comply with this request will address their communications to Mr. Hope, at the Virginian office.—Richmond Sentinel.

The Question of the Admission of Southern Members.

The Washington Intelligencer of the 21st has a second article denouncing the speech of Schuyler Colfax as antagonistic to the views of President Johnson, and as indicating a desire to exclude the Southern members during the next session of Congress.

The time has come, says the Intelligencer, to throw away disguise. Let gentlemen range themselves fairly and squarely under their banners. The President has a policy that looks to immediate restoration, recognizing first that the States are intact; second, that duly returned members of Congress shall be returned as such by the clerk of the house; and third, that no test oath shall be suffered to debar constitutionally qualified members from taking their seats in Congress. The administration has a policy clearly and sharply defined, and this cannot be supplanted by the diplomatic ambiguities of politicians.

Per contra, the Boston Journal says: The above may be by authority, but it is known that the national policy promulgated by Mr. Colfax meets the approval of a majority of the members of Congress, and President Johnson has recently expressed himself as decidedly averse to the recognition of Southern Congressmen, so long as they and their constituents fail to submit promptly and without reservation to the conditions which he has imposed. We do not believe that there will be any division between the executive and the loyal Congressmen.

A Military Law.

An ordinance passed by the State Convention at is late session, provided for the organization of a police in the different counties, in addition to the regular "county police," and as an auxiliary to that body. The duty of organizing these "military companies," as they are termed in the ordinance, devolves on the magistrates appointed by the Provisional Governor. It is also provided that this ordinance shall remain in force until it is modified or repealed by the General Assembly.

The General Assembly being now in session, we would suggest the propriety of immediate action on this question. We have no plan of our own to offer, leaving that to those of more experience; but we wish to urge on the Legislature the importance of prompt action. Something must be done to protect the people from robbery, and other outrages, and we presume the militia, if organized on a proper basis, will answer the purpose as well as any other organization.

If the Legislature should think the ordinance, as passed by the Convention, sufficient, why let them give it their endorsement; for the Convention having merely adopted it as a temporary affair, the people will expect the Legislature to present something of a more permanent character. A militia organization without arms will, of course, be comparatively worthless. It will be, therefore, important to consult with the proper authorities in reference to providing them with the necessary arms and equipments We trust the necessity for bringing out the militia for active service may never arise; but this does not lessen the importance or propriety of being prepared for any emergency.

It will be well for the Legislature to bring up the question early in the session. The whole matter may be disposed of in a day, and the people of the different counties may then go to work and organize their companies on something like a permanent footing.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Site of the Tower of Babel Discovered.

A cylinder discovered among the ruins of Babylon by Sir H. Rawlinson, was covered with cuneiform inscriptions, which being deciphered by M. Oppert, singularly confirms the Bible account of the Tower of Babel. The writing purports to be from Nebuchadnezzar, and refers to a temple began by an ancient king forty-two generations before his day, but not finished, as the men abandoned it "because they found their words confused." The earthquake and thunder had shattered and thrown down its materials. He had begun to build it again on the same foundations, inscribing his name on the frieze of the arches. According to Professor Hackett, this interpretation, if correct, confirms the view that the temple of Belus built by Nebuchadnezzar, is on the site of the ancient tower, the building of which was stopped by the confusion of tongues about 1600 years, or 42 generations before the time of Nebuchadnezzar.

Fears of a Negro Insurrection.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The steamship Wilmington from Galveston on the 18th has arrived. Further allusion is made in her advices to the apprehensons of the white people of Texas of an insurrection of the negroes of the State about Christmas on account of their having received an impression, till recently prevalent among the freedmen of the Southern States, that at Christmas the government intended to distribute among them the lands of their former masters. The dread of an outbreak was great and many families had already left the interior for the sea-coast.

Gen. Grant and Mexico.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says:

Senior Romero, the Mexican Minister, had a protracted interview with General Grant, in which Mexican affairs were freely discussed. General Grant reiterated to Senior Romero the sentiments he had previously expressed in his speech at New York on that subject.

Gen. Canby has received instructions from Washington countermanding the order previously given to muster the negro troops in Louisiana out of the service, and directing him to concentrate them at a given place to be ready for any emergency. The Hon. Pierre Soule has returned to New Orleans. The Rev. Dr. Leacock, who was expelled from that city three years ago by B. F. Butler, has also reached there, and was warmly welcomed by his parishioners and his numerous friends.

The death of the fattest man in the world, M. Helm, is recorded. He was employed in Paris as translator; his age was 42; he weighed 500.

DIED,

On the 22d November, at the residence of Thomas J. Davis, Esq., of Wake County, Mrs. MARY NUNN, consort of James D. Nunn, of Raleigh, N. C, in the 72d year of her age.

The memory of this precious saint will be long preserved by all who knew her. She was a member of the Baptist Church in this city for 27 years, and was ever a bright and shining light.

For seven long years she was a great sufferer, and was ripe for the kingdom of glory, to which the Master had called her. She was greatly comforted in her last illness by the kind and tender care of the family under whose roof she met her last enemy. She leaves behind her many friends and an aged and devoted husband who may well pray that their last end may be like hers. "The righteous hath hope in his death."

NEW GOODS.

New Line Opened! Makes Two Trips to the Old Line's One!

A. CREECH HAS JUST RETURNED FROM the North, where he has bought his second supply of

STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS,

Embracing the various New Styles of the Season, together with Ladies' Cloaks, Long Shawls, Breakfast Shawls, Ladies and Misses' Goods, Ladies and Misses' Hoop Skirts, Ladies and Misses' Balmoral Shoes. Gent's Boots and Shoes, Boys, Youths and Children's Boots and Shoes. Felt Hats, the Derby the Dasher, the Planter's wide brim, and other styles for Men's wear. Boys, Youths and Children's Hats. Wood and Willow Ware, Crockery and Glass Ware, and a superior lot of Family Groceries

Take my stock altogether, I have one among the largest and most desirable and complete stocks of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods in the City.

Now, allow me to say that I bought my Goods to sell, and they must and shall be sold; but I don't expect to take a piece of poetry in one hand and a full grown humbug in the other and climb up to the clouds and fish out the birds of Paradise and gently bring them down with a placard stuck on their backs. "Selling out at Cost! selling out at cost!" No, I deal in no such humbug. I keep no such a class of Goods. I keep no time worn shelf-rubbed, defaced or dusty Goods—dust so thick you can rub it off with a knife. My Goods are all new, and of good styles, and I intend to sell them as low as anybody that bought goods with the expectation of paying for them, and the man that sold the goods to the man that don't intend to pay for them is a fool—and the man that sells them is a rascal. Now this is plain talk, but 'tis no slip of the tongue. I mean what I say, and say what I mean. I have lived here and sold goods here for twenty years I expect to remain here and pay my taxes to support Institutions of the City County and the State. I expect to continue to do so I respectfully ask my old customers, my old friends and new ones to call and examine my stock I will deal with you honest and treat you right If I don't sell you goods as cheap as you can buy the same class of goods elsewhere I don't expect you to buy Call at the R. Smith building, house formerly occupied by Creech & Litchford, Merchants and Auctioneers.

He would also call the attention of those of the Military Department wishing to purchase clothing, uniforms or citizens' dress, to the fact that they will find great bargains. In style and taste they cannot be surpassed by any in this city or any other. He deems it unnecessary to say any thing of his own skill in the Tailoring business, but it will suffice to say that his experience has not been for a few years only, but for the last 25 years. He therefore solicits a liberal patronage. Prompt attention will be given to persons wishing to have cutting done. Orders from a distance will be thankfully received and promptly attended to.
